When making public policy decisions and crafting legislation, some brush-off the concerns regarding biological men in women-only spaces by saying, “that rarely or never happens.” But is that really the case?

It is important to note that the concern is not that transgendered individuals are more likely to be sexual predators, but rather that sexual predators could exploit such laws by posing as transgendered in order to gain access to women and girls.

California Women’s Prisons Anticipate Pregnancy After Forcing Women to be Housed with Men
July 15, 2021 – New pregnancy resources and free condoms appeared in CCWF in preparation for wave of male transfers under new “gender identity” law… CDCR claimed to have considered the risk of pregnancy during the development of SB 132, which allowed inmates to be housed according to their self-proclaimed “gender identity” regardless of their sex and anatomy. As men started entering the facility, however, the facilities seemed unprepared to handle the reality of a mixed-sex prison. Although sexual acts (even “consensual” ones) are prohibited and result in disciplinary action if caught, CCWF started providing condoms to inmates. However, there are strict rules regarding their usage including that inmates are not allowed to have more than three condoms on their person at a time, and unwrapped condoms are considered contraband. https://www.womensliberationfront.org/news/ca-womens-prisons-anticipate-pregnancy-sb123

April 13, 2020 -- Mr Stewart was asked about so-called 'self-ID' policies, which could mean anyone who identifies as a woman is allowed to go into female-only spaces, such as changing rooms and toilets. If the bill passes the state Assembly, the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) will be required to ask each inmate his or her gender identity, and house the inmates accordingly. Transgender student in Southeast Alaska sets her own path
June 1, 2016 -- Nattaphon “Ice” Wangyot is a young man who is interested in stereotypical girls' fashion. When he sought to play on the girls' sports teams at high school, the Alaska School Activities Association left the decision up to individual schools. The school decided to allow Wangyot to join the girls' volleyball and track teams based on his self-declaration of “gender identity” and their perception of his “actions, attitude, dress and mannerisms” as being stereotypically associated with girls. As a senior competing in track, he displaced junior Saskia Harrison from the field of 16 competitors eligible to compete in the 100-meter state competition. https://www.adn.com/alaska-news/2016/05/27/transgender-student-in-southeast-alaska-sets-her-own-path/

Biden Administration Uses Term ‘Birthing Person’ Instead of ‘Mother’
June 2021 -- In a bizarre attempt to transgender the English language, Pres. Biden has decided to bleep out the word “mother” and replace it with “birthing people”—a demeaning term that reduces women to some sort of utilitarian breeding center in another effort to eradicate gender. In Wednesday’s Senate committee meeting, Health and Human Services Secretary Xavier Becerra struggled to field questions on why the word “mom” is being treated like the world’s newest profanity. When Sen. James Lankford, R-Okla., pressed him, “Can you help me get a good definition of ‘birthing people?’” the secretary fumbled awkwardly for an answer. https://www.dailysignal.com/2021/06/14/biden-administration-uses-term-birthing-person-instead-of-mother/

This aligns with general population surveys asking the same question.

Pro-Transgender Poll: Majority of Americans Oppose Men Competing Against Women
June 22, 2021 -- Arizona State University conducted a study to see what percentage of the population believed biological men participating in women’s sports would have a positive effect. National Survey on Women’s Right to Privacy and Safety 2021 -- The survey showed support for passage of the Equality Act, but when voters were asked questions about outcomes of the Equality Act, a very different picture emerged. Voters like the concept of equality, but land strongly on the side of protecting women’s privacy, safety, and opportunity rights. Another important finding shows voters rejecting censorship and coercion, in favor of strong support for freedom of speech and rights of conscience.

“Majorities of American voters continue to express support for fair treatment of their fellow citizens, want to preserve necessary female-only services and opportunities, and to respect freedom of speech even for those they disagree with. The current Equality Act claims to uphold these values, while posing a serious threat to all of them. Elected officials should look past surface support for equality as a concept and think ahead to how people are going to react to the effects of these policies,” said feminist activist Natasha Chart, who organized the survey.

The poll also revealed cross-partisan disapproval of “gender identity” based policies, such as those impacting single-sex sports. The majority of respondents of all parties (74 percent) want to keep sports single-sex.

A majority of voters also do not want to create a situation where there would only be mixed-sex or coed changing and group shower accommodations (54 percent to 20 percent).

A plurality of voters support a parent’s right to engage in decisions regarding their minor children as to sex change surgery and taking potentially sterilizing hormones (48 percent to 30 percent)

An overwhelming majority of voters (85 percent) believe that employees should be allowed to express spiritual or personal convictions outside the workplace without getting fired.

When asked about Twitter’s decision to suspend the accounts of people with whom they disagree, the majority disapproved (53 percent to 35 percent). When asked about legislation to reform Section 230 (limiting Big Tech and social media’s immunity from civil liability), 62 percent of voters support reform.

April 2021 -- An April poll of Scottish attitudes showed a majority disapproved of allowing surveyed were opposed to trans women using female changing rooms in venues such as swimming pools and sports centres, when “don’t knows” were excluded. Sixty per cent said that trans women should not be allowed to compete in women’s sporting events, while 27 per cent thought they should. https://www.thetimes.co.uk/pr/article/worry-over-trans-reform-widespread-survey-shows-0fxmzh93g

Survey Results Show That Most Americans are Against the Harms of Gender Identity Policies

2020-2021 -- “ Voters overwhelmingly disapprove of policies that allow the placement of male sexual offenders or domestic abusers in women’s prisons, with only seven percent of voters such policies.” https://www.womensliberationfront.org/poll-data

The vast majority of male-born transwomen still have a penis
July 22, 2018 -- How many transgender people medically transition?
In 2011, GIRES estimated that only 20% of the UK transgender population were likely to seek medical treatment for their condition at some stage. Based on a UK trans prevalence of 1% and assuming a 50:50 split of males and females that means there are 200,000 male-born transgender people in the UK will not body modifications whatsoever. Of the 50,000 trans-identifying males that do seek medical treatment most of these would be expected to be undergoing hormone treatment and/or breast implants. Only a very small proportion of this 20% will have genital reconstruction surgery. https://fairplayforwomen.com/penis/
